1	1. AKIS related question 2. As for the Clinic, some young kids are suffering from Diabetes. Before we had one doctor who is specializing the diabetes, now, no more. Even my daughter, she is 11 years old and I am sending her to Sidra Medical Centre. Mostly in Sidra, we are receiving maximum twice a year. 3.AKC related question	Dr. Charmaine D'Souza: Regarding the diabetic clinic that we had previously, this was removed after the integration because there was a reassigning of staff member in different area of the Medical Department. However, we are still seeing all patients with diabetes. There is no designated clinic but we have all medications and doctors who could treat people with diabetes. Regarding the children with diabetes, of course as you may know, being a parent of a child like that, it has to be managed by a specialist diabetes specialist. In Qatar right now, all the pediatric diabetes specialists are in Sidra, however, if you feel the diabetes is uncontrolled, or you need to be seen more frequently, our pediatric doctors are more than happy to see your child. We do have the medications to treat diabetes, if not, we'll get them for you.	No action requiried as solution was offered	Closed
